RESEARCH AND SCHOLARSHIP
UConn School of Pharmacy faculty brings in more than $7.5 million in grant funding each year to conduct groundbreaking research, including from the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality, the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, and the National Institutes of Health.
In recent years, both the dean and the department head of pharmacy practice have received lifetime achievement awards in their respective areas of scholarship.

MEDIA
Our incredibly productive faculty has garnered more than a dozen national awards, contributed publications to several premier medical journals, and been featured in national media including The Los Angeles Times, Salon, The International Business Times, “The Dr. Oz Show,” and the Associated Press.

“We know based on our rates of job placement at graduation, residency match, and fellowship placement that our curriculum prepares our students well for the pharmacy job market.”
– Kathryn Wheeler, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs; Associate Clinical Professor of Pharmacy Practice

PHARM.D. ENRICHMENT OPPORTUNITIES
• UConn Honors Program
• Pre-Pharmacy Learning Community
• Special Program in Pharmacy for academically qualified incoming freshmen
• Specialty study tracks in urban service, pharmaceutical sciences, pediatrics, and leadership
• Opportunities and funding for research
• More than 70 specialized advanced pharmacy elective rotations

The UConn School of Pharmacy ranks third in research funding among pharmacy schools with less than 50 faculty members
– American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy (AACP) 2016 data

STUDENT SERVICE AND ENGAGEMENT
More than 10,000 hours of student service learning are contributed annually, with 97 students in the field each month. Students conduct regular patient consultations at migrant farm worker clinics, Covenant Soup Kitchen, South Park Inn homeless shelter, and community health centers and run drug take-back events, health fairs, and senior center and school programs.
